EDUCATION

Early Education

Mohamed completed his primary and secondary education in the Maldives in Majeediyya School and in neighbouring Sri Lanka at the Colombo International School (CIS) and the British School in Colombo (BSC).

His linguistic and oratory skills were spotted while in school, as were his sporting, artistic and leadership talents.

Bachelor of Arts (Hons.)

Mohamed completed his Bachelor of Arts (Hons.) degree at prominent British institution, the University of Warwick. He graduated on the Honours Roll, in Economics and Politics.

Master of Arts

Immediately upon the completion of his undergraduate studies, Mohamed read for a Master of Arts degree in Environmental Politics at Keele University, also in the UK.

Postgraduate Research

After working at the President's Office as Assistant Director, Head of the Environment Unit, Mohamed returned to the UK to his beloved Warwick University for postgraduate research. In 2005, he completed his MPhil in Diplomacy and International Relations, with his thesis being a comparative analysis of country negotiating positions at the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change Conference of Parties. He opted for a comparison between the Maldives and Malta.

POLITICAL LIFE

Environmental Policy

His first assignment at the President's Office was as Assistant Director, Head of the Environment Unit (from September 1999), where he was entrusted with President Maumoon Abdul Gayoom's global campaigning in raising awareness on the perils of climate change and sea level rise on the Maldives and small island developing states (SIDS).

Section and Media Section at the Office. In addition to his representation in Cabinet, he was also entrusted with the duties of co-Cabinet Secretary.

Mohamed was instrumental in strategic decision-making in implementing the President's economic agenda, including commercial diplomacy.

During his two year stint as Minister at the President's Office, he was assigned temporary charge of other government portfolios, including Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Ministry of Health and Ministry of Youth and Sports.

He represented the State overseas at the behest of the President and chaired a number of key committees. Furthermore, he was the key liaison with foreign diplomats, on behalf of the President.

Mohamed was a member of China-Maldives Joint Commission, and Co-Chair of the Independence Golden Jubilee Ministerial Committee.

Mohamed accompanied the President on almost all his key overseas State and Official Visits. He was also instrumental in overall preparations during State and Official Visits to the Maldives by Heads of State and Government.

Mohamed, from January to June 2015, served as the Chair of the Executive Board of the World Health Organisation (WHO), which involved him chairing daily highest level meetings at the WHO Head Office in Geneva, Switzerland.

Political Strategy and Campaigns

With the onset of pluralism in the Maldives, Mohamed joined the Dhivehi Rayyithunge Party (DRP) in 2005. In 2010, he left the DRP to join Former President Maumoon Abdul Gayoom to form the Progressive Party of Maldives (PPM). Mohamed was the Party's first Secretary General and Spokesman. He went on to be elected to the PPM Interim Council and later the Governing Council. He was instrumental in strategic planning for the Party's repeated electoral success, including no less than twenty wins in bi-elections for the Parliament and Local Councils. He was among the key strategists of the Party in its historic 2013 Presidential Elections victory. During the presidential elections campaign, Mohamed served as the PPM Representative on the Elections Commission Advisory Committee.
