2.2 Brief description of the organization.

Kanduhadhoo Island Development Society (KIDS) registered in 1989, is an NGO which provides voluntary humanitarian assistance for the development of the islands of Gaafu Alifu Atoll. KIDS' assistance covers all development sectors. The strategy is based on the concept of participatory approach to community development and the main goal is the promotion of sustainable human development of the small island communities of Gaafu Alifu Atoll. In the past the NGO focused on the delivery of awareness programmes on AIDS/HIV prevention, home welfare economics and community development. Around 1994 KIDS began encouraging residents to pay some attention to the protection of the environment, and in particular the beach and to devote more energy to the development of agricultural crops for economic purposes. These efforts were further strengthened in mid-1996 when KIDS received some substantial assistance in the form of a UNV Agronomist and from Australian Youth Ambassador.

Since 1996 this NGO has emphasized its actions in investment of women in decision making power and enhancement of their skills in sewing and embroidery through the organization of training workshops and practices.

Since 1995 KIDS has been a member of the National AIDS Council and has work closely with the government on alerting and disseminating information on AIDS/HIV to the public.
